

Who We Are

Yuda Media is a full service online - offline design and development firm based in Kampala, Uganda. We provide cutting edge creations and designs that allow clients to achieve synergy between offline and online marketing campaigns.

Our exceptionally strong backend coding capabilities, along with seamless navigation and user interface design allows us to create visually stunning products that are still easy to use and manage. Our team consists of developers, designers and programmers whose skills range from php, asp, jsp, css, C++ coding to flash and graphic design. We believe interactivity, innovative content, community-based web portals, and feature rich web applications reflect the future of the internet. We have helped several organizations, from SME's to non-profit, design a corporate identity, establish an internet presence, develop online and offline media campaigns and consulted on backend IT systems. No project is too big for us to handle. Our mission as a company is reflected in the way we work: value each and every client and treat them with respect and honesty, while providing world class internet and web based development solutions that meet or exceed client expectations. To us, success is a direct result of our clients' success; the better they do, the better we do. Our Vision
